Maintenance of county dumps too expensive for supervisors

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday tabled a proposal to lease 16th Section lands from the County School District which are currently sites of four garbage dumps. The action was requested by Billy Sills, county school superintendent. The State Health Department, has ordered the dumps be closed or changed to sanitary land fill areas because of the health hazard posed to the community. Leasing the land from the school board would mean the county would take responsibility for maintaining the dumps under guidelines established for sanitary land fill areas. Board president Alton (Dolph) Kellar said, "There is no way the county superintendents can comply with the guide lines set down for running sanitary land fills." Kellar said the law requires trash be buried, compacted and covered with six inches of dirt. He said the purchase price for a compacting machine alone is $80,000. Kellar also mentioned the need to employ an operator and purchasing a

Army ammo plant seeks local suppliers, workers

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Corporate manager of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant now under construction at the National Space Technology Laboratories issued an appeal Wednesday afternoon to local businessmen to offer services to assist production.

The official also pledged to hire employees for the plant locally.

He said initial phase of the plant operation is expected to begin this summer.

The final stage of the plant's three-phase manufacturing operation, bringing full production capability, is slated for early 1984.

The plant will produce an anti-personnel, 155-millimeter M-483 artillery projectile for the U.S. Army which can be fired up to 10 miles.

The blast area for each shell would roughly effect an area the size of a football field.

Kenneth S. Cole, vice president and general manager of the Mason Chamberlain, Inc. plant, told some 300 people attending Hancock Bank's 15th Annual Economic Symposium, jamming the Crown Room of Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi. "Although we have bought our specialized equipment from outside our area we look forward to developing local sources for supporting services."

"We have one man on our payroll who is paid to seek local suppliers," he noted.

"If you have an idea for providing a service for us we'll be happy to talk to you," Cole stated.

Regarding the work force at the Hancock County plant, Cole reported, "As we move into this installation we will reach an employment level of 1,400."

Cole estimates a total annual payroll at the local facility ranging from $20 to $25 million and speculates some $37 million annually will be pumped into the local economy with total production.

"We expect to employ people from the local area," the vice president stated.

"Technicians will be enrolled in a training program to learn how to operate our specialized equipment. We are working with Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville and the college's vocational-technical school in Hancock County in this particular area," Cole explained.

"We will need mechanics, machinists, electricians and plumbers," he reported.

"We will be a stable employer not subject to ups and downs in the economy," Cole said.

The general manager reported some 150 people are now on the company's payroll locally and equipment is now being procured for the plant.

"This is the first munitions plant constructed for the Army since World War II," he stated.

Cole said total plant production capability is 20,000 rounds per month requiring 13-million components (650 pieces per round).

In reference to plant safety, Cole noted, "Our plant will be safer than the kitchen in your home."

"It will not be a threat to NSTL or the local community," he added.

"Because of the chemical compounds involved something can blow up, but we will have walls throughout our facility as thick as four to five feet with steel interfacing," Cole explained.

"We are excited about being in Mississippi and we plan to make every effort to be a good neighbor," he noted.

"We will move into our first building with $125 million of equipment and our share of a total $440 million plant cost is $275 million," Cole stated.

The Army's financial share of the operation is $165 million.

Lt. Col. Robert F. Bowers, Army commanding officer of the NSTL based facility, also a symposium speaker, said NSTL was one of 92 sites considered for the modern munitions plant.

Bowers displayed a map showing locations of some 29 munitions plants. Most of the factories are in the Sunbelt, north midwestern, and northeastern areas of the U.S.

"The plant site occupies 7,150 acres of the northern part of NSTL," Bowers noted.

Fishing the Jourdan, has it gotten worse?

By BRENT MACEY

Local fishermen say the fishing is not so good in the Jourdan River these days. In fact, they say it's not half as good as it was 20 or 30 years ago.

Many fishermen say they are still catching fish. Reports indicate this year's catch of speckled trout in early January was very good. Still, they feel the river is not yielding the quality or numbers of fish that it used to.

State Bureau of Fisheries and Wildlife Chief Barry Freeman of Jackson disagrees.

Freeman said the fishing probably never was good and is still not very good.

His comments are in reference to three studies conducted on the Jourdan River in the early 60's, the early 70's, and a final study completed in 1978.

"The studies show there has not been a major decrease in the number of fish in the Jourdan," Freeman said.

"It is just a real infertile river." He said the studies revealed the pH factor (the count of hydrogen ions in the river water) are very low.

"Most other scientists who look at the study think that there are no fish in the Jourdan when they see that figure," he said.

Little Theatre staging final effort for funds

By BRENT MACEY

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre is giving a final performance of The Sea Horse Friday night at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue.

Proceeds from that show will help the cast and crew attend the South Eastern Theatre Conference competition in Orlando, Fla. March 2-8.

"One way or another we have an obligation to the community to attend that competition," play director Laurie Byrd said recently.

She said competition in Orlando will involve 11 states and Puerto Rico.

Byrd explained the play recently won Mississippi Community Theatre Competition in Hattiesburg, the first time the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre ever entered the competition.

Winning that competition now enables the theatre group to attend the Orlando competition.

Byrd is confident about the play and the abilities of its two actors, Mike

Cuevas and Rusty Blackwell. She is not very confident about raising the money needed to attend. Byrd said the group needs $3,000 to attend. With only two weeks left until competition begins, the group only has $1,500.

Regardless of the money, the group is determined to go.

"We will go even if we have to hitch hike," actress Mike Cuevas said.

She noted the Bay theatre group contends with an extremely small budget.

"We do not have any $4,000 budget like other organizations," she said.

"Our budget runs more like $500 from play to play."

"Considering costs necessary to stage any performance, that amount of money does not stretch very far," she said.

"Most of the time the necessary funds come out of theatre members' own pockets," she said.

The members are hoping for one last large turnout and a show of support

KENNETH'S ROLE

"The Army Corps of Engineers performed the initial site preparation work in 1973 and established drainage ditches and canals," the Army colonel said.

Bowers noted a plant cargo facility is now under construction.

Jack Cummings, Mason Chamberlain's chief engineer for the local plant, said in Picayune Wednesday afternoon the first phase of the munitions operation will be a projectile manufacturing facility which will have 'forging capability.'

He noted some six to eight mechanics will be needed for the initial phase to participate in final installation of equipment.

"The mechanics will operate and maintain this forging equipment. To familiarize themselves with this operation the personnel will participate in the last portion of installation work," Cummings explained.

The second phase of the operation will be production of grenades. Some 80 grenades will be placed in each artillery round.

Cummings reported the grenade production facility at the plant will become operational in 1983.

The engineer said an explosives loading area will be the final plant operation phase which will be in early 1984.

Cummings said engineering for plant construction began in Aug., 1976 with the Corps site preparation work beginning in Oct., 1977.

Other speakers participating in the symposium were:

—Dr. Doren C. Scott, professor of economics and acting director of the Division of Research at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. Scott discussed his economic outlook for the 1980's;

—John F. Martin, president of Paceco, Inc., a subsidiary of Fruehauf Corp. of Alameda, Calif. Martin explained Paceco's plans for relocating its headquarters in the Industrial Seaway near Gulfport. Paceco now has a cargo crane manufacturing operation at the seaway;

—R.L. Hartung, general manager of a Chevron U.S.A., Inc. Pascagoula refinery. Hartung reported Chevron's plans for a $1 billion expansion of the Pascagoula plant;

—Stuart Russo, an Apollo space program astronaut. Russo reported his plans to move to the Mississippi Gulf Coast and open a private business;

—Leo Seal, Hancock Bank president. Seal gave a welcoming address;

—Dr. Homer Moody. He offered an invocation;

—Donald Sutter, Hancock Bank board chairman. Sutter introduced the speakers.

Veteran 'Sidewalk Superintendents' In the Bleachers

The 172 Veterans Administration Medical Centers scattered throughout the nation provide veterans some of the best medical care available anywhere in the world.

But more than that, VA hospital officials and others working with them often go the extra step.

For example, take the situation in North Little Rock, Ark., where a huge new VA medical facility is under construction at the same time some 1,200 patients continue to occupy 10 existing nearby buildings which are now surrounded by a fenced five-acre building site.

The extra step here involves bleachers and hard hats.

Recognizing that many patients are "sidewalk superintendents" at heart, VA officials have arranged for the erection of bleachers near the site where the new 1,000-bed facility is being built so that patients can comfortably observe day-to-day operations.

Fishing.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Freeman associated that low pH reading, or high acidic reading, to the drainage from pine land areas into the Jourdan.

"The soil which supports pine trees is acidic," he said.

He stated the water run off which drains the pine lands carries that acidity into the river.

Freeman said high acidity is not conducive to supporting nutrients which feed fish and water plants.

When asked about the increase in the number of motor boats on the Jourdan and their effect on the fishing, Freeman replied they may help the fishing.

"A lot of times a fisherman may not be getting a bite until a boat goes by and then he will get one."

Freeman said the turbulence caused by the boat motor in stirring up the bottom soil will often kick up nutrients and cause fish to start feeding.

"In most cases I think you will find the boats are more annoying to the fisherman than the fish," he added.

He said complaints of not catching as many fish may be the result of the numbers of fishermen fishing the Jourdan.

"You have the same number of fish but that number is being divided by a larger number of fishermen," he said.

Robert Genin, a Bay St. Louis resident who says he 'grew up fishing on the Jourdan,' said the study is 'incorrect.'

He related experiences of fishing with his father back in the early 1950's.

Genin said his father used to leave his office around 4 or 5 p.m. 'before there was daylight savings time,' and return home within a few hours with '10, 15 or 20 green trout.'

"There have been some drastic changes in the last 25 years just in the physical aspects of the river," Genin said.

He said areas in Visco Lake, Cuevas Lake and Cutoff Lake in the 50's were so thick with cattail grass and ribbon grass that it was impossible to get a boat across.

"There was a bunch of vegetation. It was full of ducks and there were plenty of fish. Now there is just mud," Genin said.

Genin blamed the changes on pollution, saltwater intrusion, and the number of speed boats on the river.

"About the time that motor boat traffic started there was a decrease in the fishing," he said.

He added he felt the river is more polluted now due to the population increase in Shoreline Park and the sewer run off from that area.

August Rauxet, also from Bay St. Louis, agrees with Genin that the fishing in the last 25 years has gotten worse.

"It was really good 25 years ago," Rauxet said.

Rauxet said the fishing was good almost anywhere in the Jourdan and especially below the I-10 bridge.

He said it was possible to catch fish in main part of the Jourdan River also.

"You cannot do that so much any more," he explained.

Rauxet said the fishing is better in the small inlets and bayous off the main river where there is not as much boat traffic.

"You used to be able to throw a fly up near the steep banks on the main river. You almost always could find a bass in there somewhere," he said.

He said those banks are no longer steep. Instead they are 'sloped' he said.

He blamed that on the boat waves. Rauxet also said the waves in the main river wash out the fish eggs.

"Boats have always been on the river but there were no waves," he said.

"You get the big boys in there now and they throw a wave," he said.

Rauxet said the boats are some times 24 feet long.

"Sometimes they will slow down for you and other times you just have to get out of the way."

He also blamed the decrease on the lack of salt water.

"A lot of canals have been dug into the river. It freshens up the water too fast," he said.

He said the salt water fish are driven out of the river from the incoming fresh water.

"It used to be salty as far up as the Kiln bridge," he said.

Coast crime group elects new officers, directors

H. Richard (Dick) Herman, vice president in charge of marketing with Stewart-Sneed-Hewes, Inc. of Gulfport has been elected president of the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission.

He succeeds Robert J. (Bob) Jones, vice president and general manager of Gulfport Paper Company.

Herman has been with Stewart-Sneed-Hewes since 1973, coming here from Atlanta where he was with U.S. Fire Insurance Co. He has 16 years in insurance. Herman is a graduate of the University of Mississippi. He is married and has two daughters.

The commission elected Ray L. Crowell, executive vice president of Southern Federal Savings and Loan of Gulfport, as vice president, and re-elected Dorothy S. Crapo, president of Merchiston-Hall Galleries of Biloxi, as secretary-treasurer.

New members on the board of directors elected are:

—D.D. King, manager of Roadway Inn in Biloxi;

—Beth Bond, manager of Moody's Fountainhead Motel in Gulfport;

—H.C. Booth, manager of General Adjustment Bureau of Gulfport;

—Harry Woodbury, retired manager of Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce;

—D'Aubry H. Schiel, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of The Jefferson Bank in Biloxi;

—Steve Hudson, president of Jones Brothers' Drug Co. of Gulfport;

—Pat F. MacManus, sports director of WLOX-TV in Biloxi;

—Clarence Hamilton, president of Hamilton Diving and Marine Survey in Ocean Springs;

—John McFarland of Gulf Publishing Co representing Gulfport Kiwanis Club.

ANNUAL REPORT

Jones, outgoing president of the commission, made an annual report to the commission recently and pointed out that other states bordering the Gulf of Mexico have passed laws calling for mandatory jail sentences for drug smugglers—Mississippi has no such law.

The retiring president of the commission said a law similar to one in Alabama is pending in the Mississippi State Legislature. He said all coast legislators have been urged to support the measure.

The commission officials also called for legislation to strengthen the state's narcotics bureau through increased funding. He said it needed more personnel assigned to the coast.

He suggested the state route funds from the sale of planes, boats and other equipment seized in narcotic raids directly to the bureau.

Currently, this money is channelled into the state's general fund.

Executive Director John Montgomery reviewed activities of the past year, identifying the commission's support of a satellite facility of the State Corrections Department in Harrison County as a pressing need. While latest efforts to obtain a site have failed, he said he hoped 'county fathers' would redouble their efforts to find a place to house non-violent offenders.

The executive director also emphasized a need for a statewide grand jury authority to face the growing problem of organized crime in Mississippi.

Herman reviewed an Arson Workshop presented by the commission with State Insurance Commissioner George Dale at Phillips College recently. Some 250 fire and law enforcement officials attended.

"The Crime Commission is an organization of business and civic leaders dedicated to the prevention of crime and the improvement of our criminal justice system. It accomplishes its objectives through informing the public regarding these matters, in seminars, and through conducting inquiries and making results known to appropriate enforcement agencies," Herman explained.

ad valorem totals

Ad valorem taxes paid by South Central Bell to Mississippi Gulf Coast counties and cities amounted to over $3.5 million says Franklin Kyle Jr., district manager for the company's Gulf Coast District.

"In Hancock County and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, the total taxes were $235,467," Kyle notes.

"In Harrison County and the cities of Pass Christian, Long Beach, Gulfport and Biloxi, the total was $2,368,424," he states.

"In Jackson County and the cities of Moss Point, Pascagoula and Ocean Springs, the total was $963,152 for a grand total of $3,567,043," Kyle says.

"It's expected we will pay $21.8 million to Mississippi municipalities and counties for 1980 ad valorem taxes," Kyle speculated.

"These payments are part of an estimated $48.9 million tax bill that will be paid by the telephone company to Mississippi and its counties and municipalities for 1980 and do not include income, social security and excise taxes paid to the federal government," the district manager explained.

Hats off to Mississippi Power

Good news for all was received this week with Mississippi Power's winning a breach of contract settlement against Peabody Coal Company.

We all are aware of the tremendous increases in utility costs in recent years.

More increases seem to be coming in the future.

The $52 million which will be divided up by Mississippi Power's customers, including Coast Electric members and those of another coop, is due to the long battle.

Most of us have been aware of the fuel adjustment clause on our utility bills.

Mississippi Power, we feel, went to bat for its customers in the suit against Peabody.

The power company could have just gone ahead and purchased the more expensive fuels when Peabody cut its six year contract.

As customers, we would not be receiving the refunds.

It will take some time for a formula to be established by Mississippi Power for its customers on amounts to be paid back.

We, like everyone else, will be waiting for our refund.

We can all say thanks to Mississippi Power Company.

Bits 'n pieces

Congratulations are in order to Eddie Favre and Bobby Parker upon receiving certified public accountant (CPA) ratings.

There are very few CPA's around. It is a title sought by many, but accomplished by only a few.

These two young men have worked very hard over the years preparing themselves to attain the CPA rating.

Favre is doing a fine job as Bay St. Louis' city clerk and finance officer and Parker is in a responsible position with local office of the Moore and Powell accounting firm.

We wish them both well in the years to come, we know their families are proud of their achievements.

As I sit in the hospital recovering from back surgery, I wish to express a sincere thank you to all my friends.

I know many prayers have been offered for my recovery. I want you to know I will never forget you.

I know our staff at the Echo has been doing double duty with me and several others down at the same time. Everyone of you has done a superior job.

The lovely flowers and plants, I hope to nourish for a long time.

I have received many get well cards, hospital visits, telephone calls, gifts and inquiries about my condition.

It is good to know so many are thinking about me.

I hope to back in action in a few weeks.

HERITAGE NEWS FORUM

By HERB BERKOWITZ
As the reality of Reagan administration begins to grip the international community, all sides are watching for sharp lurches, one way or another, in U.S. foreign policy.

If by "sharp" we mean sudden and unexpected, such shifts are not likely.

Reagan has been forthright and consistent in his world view, and it would be unrealistic, indeed, to expect any extraordinary surprises.

If, on the other hand, one means substantial change from the foreign policy posture of the previous administration, we can expect some changes.

There is little in the makeup of the Reagan administration to suggest that he will accept the status quo.

What, then, in the way of change?

As a general rule, the Reagan administration will be harder on our foes; and more cooperative with our friends. The banner of "human rights," while understood, will be waved with a steady hand, and applied equally to the totalitarian regimes of the East, or not at all.

After all, the President and his advisors argue convincingly that it makes no sense to squeeze friendly governments on these issues, while letting the Soviets and their stooges completely off the hook.

Most important, I would watch for the Reagan administration to cement our long-standing friendships with such stalwart allies as Israel, South Korea, and South Africa.

And even here, watch for changes. Though experts agree that they are likely to be low-key, neither earth-shaking nor insignificant, perhaps as much style as substance.

In fact, says Dr. James Hsiung of New York University, if the new Administration does nothing more than put a stop to the "pettiness" that has characterized U.S. dealings with Taiwan since President Carter discontinued formal diplomatic relations, for instance, it will be a step in the right direction.

Dr. Y.M. Kau of Brown University hit the nail on the head at a recent New York seminar when he noted that our policy toward Taiwan has been based on the "fiction" that Taiwan does not exist.

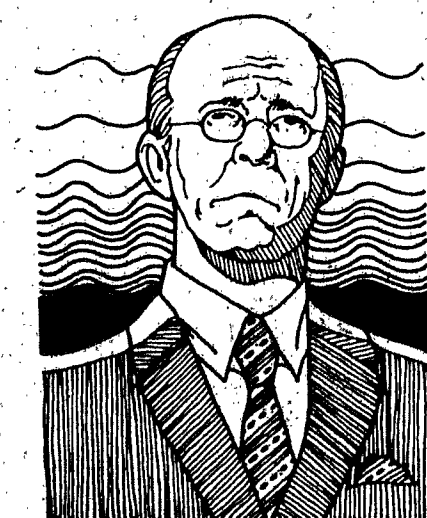

Thus, Taiwan's official representatives in the United States forced to conduct their business "in restaurants, hotel lobbies, and the like, instead of in a dignified, official manner like the representatives of other nations.

Even some of the world's most murderous regimes have been treated with more respect and dignity.

Yes, watch for some changes. They may be quiet and gradual, as in the case of U.S.-Taiwan relations, or forceful and bold, as in our dealings with the Soviet Union. The one thing I do not expect is any real surprises.

beverages, Jello or Jello water, Kool Aid, clear broth). Avoid solid foods.

If diarrhea persists longer than a day or two, seek medical attention to offset dehydration. Severe or prolonged stomach cramping, or bloody or black stools also indicate that a doctor is required.

Diarrhea in infants can rapidly lead to severe dehydration. In the infant with diarrhea also look for fever, dry mouth, failure to urinate, drowsiness or sluggishness, sunken eyes, vomiting and bloody stools. If these danger signals occur, seek medical attention promptly.

If diarrhea is not severe and the child will take liquids, the body is making an effort to replace lost fluids. If the child or adult rejects liquids or is vomiting, replacement of fluids will be impossible and dehydration can occur rapidly. Hospitalization may be necessary.

It is not necessary to see the doctor for every case of the "trotts," but diarrhea that persists for several days for no apparent reason calls for medical attention.

SENATE INVESTIGATIVE REPORT ON FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) has released a special staff investigative report on fraud, waste and mismanagement in the Food Stamp program.

The report was prepared by investigators of the Senate Appropriations Committee at the request of the agriculture appropriations subcommittee.

Senator Cochran, chairman of the subcommittee, has dispatched the report to Agriculture Secretary John Block for review and comment by the Department of Agriculture, which administers the program.

The Senator pointed out the Food Stamp program provides assistance to over 21 million Americans, nearly one-tenth our population, and will cost about $11 billion this year, or half of USDA's total budget.

The Senate report documents a number of problems in administration of the program and recommends specific actions to curb fraud and close loopholes which have wasted hundreds of millions of taxpayer dollars.

Among the report's proposals were:

—Tightening up on full replacement of coupons claimed to be lost or stolen.

—Allowing states to undertake more comprehensive verification of income and assets reported by recipients.

—Directing USDA to develop and implement a nationwide strategy to combat Food Stamp fraud.

—Pro-rating of first-month benefits so new recipients would receive only that portion of the monthly Food Stamp allotment claimed, a change the report says would save $250 million a year.

Senator Cochran noted that a number of changes recommended in the report have already been acted upon by Congress, or proposed within USDA, but have yet to be implemented.

The Senator said he intends to pursue new legislative changes to make certain Food Stamp benefits are limited to the truly needy, and to insist USDA work to implement cost-saving reforms.

OPPOSING NINE-DIGIT ZIP

Senator Thad Cochran, a Mississippi Republican announced he is sponsoring legislation to prohibit the U.S. Postal Service from implementing a nine-digit zip code unless Congress determines the proposal is feasible and sound.

Before the 96th Congress ended, the Senate voted unanimously in favor of an amendment to block the Postal Service from setting up a nine-digit zip code. However, this legislation was lost in a compromise that followed in a House-Senate Conference as the last Congress came to a close.

In December, the Postmaster General voluntarily delayed the implementation of the longer code until at least June 1.

"The issue here is not when the zip code should be expanded but whether to expand it at all," Cochran explained.

"Congress must not allow public funds to be spent on this project until the Postal Service can prove that the plan to carry it out is both a workable and practical one," he added.

Cochran said he is joining with several other Senate colleagues in authoring this bill.

THREE FEDERAL APPOINTMENTS

U.S. Senator Thad Cochran of Mississippi recently recommended to President Ronald Reagan three major appointments to justice and agriculture posts in Mississippi.

The senator recommended the President appoint Glen Davidson of Tupelo as U.S. attorney for the Northern District and George Phillips of Hattiesburg as U.S. attorney for the Southern District.

He proposed the appointment of Hobson Gary of Schlatter as chairman of the state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee which sets policies for farm programs administered by that agency.

"All three of these Mississippians are exceptionally well qualified for their respective positions," Cochran commented.

"They are experienced, competent and well-respected by their fellow citizens," he noted.

He said Davidson has considerable experience as a prosecutor in Northeast Mississippi and that Phillips has served as acting U.S. Attorney and as a county prosecuting attorney.

"Both Glen Davidson and George Phillips have the ability, experience and temperament necessary to discharge the responsibilities of these offices in an outstanding manner. Both are highly respected in the legal and judicial professions of our state," he reported.

Cochran said Gary has previously served on the five-member state Agriculture Committee and is an experienced and successful family farmer in Jefferson County.

NEWS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a three-part series of articles produced by the Mississippi Economic Council reviewing the substantial amount of energy research under way in this state.

Increasing demands for energy and substantial increases in prices have led to private and government research work in project areas once considered not economically feasible.

Research activities have moved into a variety of areas in an attempt to supplement current energy supplies or increase the efficient use of available energy resources.

EXISTING RESOURCES

The Mississippi Mineral Resources Institute (MMRI), part of the University of Mississippi's School of Engineering, has funded research of Mississippi minerals and mineral deposits.

Major efforts funded through MMRI at state universities include:

- An Ole Miss survey of the Wilcos depositional systems which contain most of the lignite coal resources of Mississippi;

- A USM petrology and geochemistry analysis of igneous rocks in Washington and Issaquena counties;

- An Ole Miss environmental impact study of dry pit lignite mining on the Sledge area in northwest Mississippi;

- A MSU geothermal survey of the Black Warrior Basin;

- An Ole Miss investigation of existing open pit mining and mineral engineering technology and Mississippi applications;

- An Ole Miss study of the economic impact of the proposed Delta Star mine at Sledge;

- An Ole Miss project on desulfurization of Mississippi lignites using various bacteria and gasification of Mississippi lignites; and

- A resource evaluation of deposits in the West Warrior Coal Field located in Mississippi and Alabama.

ADVANCED TECHNIQUES

Only 25 to 30 percent of the oil in a formation is recovered by natural pressure or pumping, with secondary recovery techniques, such as water flooding or gas injection, used to produce another 15 percent from the reservoir.

Tertiary methods of oil recovery include the introduction of chemicals, steam or other heat sources to remove oil adhering to the reservoir rock.

Researchers at the University of Southern Mississippi are working on enhanced oil recovery methods in two separate projects.

USM's Department of Polymer Science is researching a polymer that will improve the process of oil recovery from wells previously considered to be dry.

The program includes studies of various polymers and their ability to flow through porous media and efforts to resolve problems associated with actual operating conditions.

USM's Department of Geology is seeking identification of geographic and geologic extents of carbon dioxide resources in the state.

Carbon dioxide, which occurs naturally in the state's subsurface, is one of the more desirable substances which can be used in tertiary or enhanced oil recovery.

The reduction in viscosity of crude oil with carbon dioxide injection in a well can result in production of an additional 15 percent of the original oil.

ELECTRIC TECHNOLOGY

Due to increasing demands for electric energy, utility companies have been required to construct transmission lines using higher voltages. Newer, more advanced control systems have been required in order to utilize new applications and increase efficiency.

Developing reliable electrical systems at minimal costs for operation at these voltages requires major research efforts as well as full scale development and testing of all system components.

Major research work on new systems is an ongoing project at Mississippi State University's High Voltage Laboratory. MSU officials believe that this laboratory is the nation's largest and best equipped university-owned and operated high voltage facility. They state that as an independent high voltage research and testing facility, the laboratory is rendering a much needed service to the electric energy industry and a number of governmental agencies.

In an allied area MSU's Microelectronics Laboratory, begun in 1978, has been successful in obtaining industrial donations of equipment valued at well over a half-million dollars for research and teaching purposes.

Useful applications of the work in the microelectronics laboratory include various energy related functions such as control systems for many types of energy conversion devices. Also, the microcircuit fabrication capability enables manufacturing of photovoltaic cells, a unique capability for the state.

UTILITY EFFORTS

Some of the major utilities in the state, such as Mississippi Valley Gas and Mississippi Power Company, do not conduct full-scale research efforts in the state but contribute to research groups which have ongoing programs in many investigative areas of importance to the industry.

The electric utilities contribute to the Electric Power Research Institute in Palo Alto, California, and the natural gas utilities contribute to the Gas Institute of Technology at Chicago, Illinois.

In addition to its support of the Electric Power Research Institute, MP&L maintains a research facility in Clinton and conducts research projects in cooperation with its parent company, Middle South Utilities.

MP&L is evaluating the hydroelectric potential of the Ross Barnett Reservoir and Dam northeast of Jackson. Results of this feasibility study will help company officials determine whether falling water from the reservoir can be efficiently used to turn a turbine to generate electricity.

MP&L is also conducting research in new ways to efficiently heat water. One is called "Heat Recovery Water Heating" and involves using exhausted heat from a home air conditioner channeled through a special heat exchanger, and transferred to the water heater.

A related research project, "Heat Pump Water Heating," involves taking heat from air and sending it directly to the water heater - similar to the way heat pumps operate in heating homes.

Equipment to control the air conditioning equipment in commercial buildings similar to the "Saver Switch" program now available to some homes in the MP&L service area is being perfected. The project could help control peak electric power loads and could delay the need to build expensive generating plants.

Compressed air storage has also been considered by the utility. A feasibility study has been conducted to determine the potential benefits of pumping air into salt domes then releasing the air over a turbine to generate electricity during peak periods.

The utility's largest research project, "Power Plant Availability Improvement Program," is being conducted in cooperation with Middle South Utilities.

Results of this five-year program will be used to help make power plants more reliable. The study, to be completed in 1983, includes using computer models to improve the efficiency of generating plants. Power plants are the heart of an electric utility, according to MP&L officials, and saving in this area benefit the entire system and result in lower electricity costs.

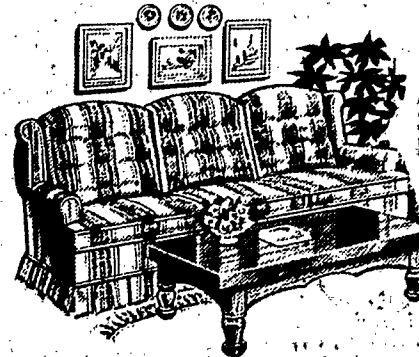

Dr. Ralph E. Powe, Associate Vice President for Research at Mississippi State University summarized the most critical aspects of the state's energy future as meeting needs for fluid fuels (gaseous and liquid fuel) and meeting needs for electricity.

"There is a great deal of research under way within Mississippi which will aid in meeting these two critical needs," said Dr. Powe. "But, research results are normally not forthcoming in a short period of time. The alternative we have for the time being is conservation."

By conservation, Dr. Powe explained that Mississippians need to eliminate energy waste and practice energy management.

"With continued research of our energy problems," said Dr. Powe, "we should be able to meet our future energy needs without a decrease in standards of living and without sacrificing the economic growth of the state of Mississippi."

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I've already announced for a local office and have my name on the list of candidates in the local paper. But I need to run some ads. What should they say, and who should I get to do them? I'm New To Politics.

Dear INTP: Unless you want to sink a bundle of money into something that might not work, you need to do them yourself.

Well, not exactly by yourself, but without an outside political expert, anyway.

They should say what you tell the voters as you visit them and discuss their day to day concerns. And the only real help you'll need will be the folks at your local newspaper.

Don't try to be super-slick and professional—be yourself. You can't fool the folks who know you anyway, so there are no odds to trying.

As you campaign you have probably developed a regular line, or opening. So try to incorporate this as a theme for your ads.

Then simply give your positions on what you think are the major areas of concern of the office you are seeking.

Again, develop this from the people you have talked with for they know better than you do what is expected from the holder of the office you seek.

Then write out your ads in your own style, incorporating sample questions if it helps. Don't be afraid of grammar or spelling at this point. Just write what you believe.

Then your newspaper ad person, or anyone else you select, can read it through and make the necessary corrections.

As for the form of the message in the paper, let the newspaper folks make suggestions.

You must remember that they are in the business to make a profit so don't expect too much of their time or space for nothing. But they will be helpful.

Ask for their ideas about presenting your message, and it will help if you have selected a copy of the paper with several ad sizes and formats so you will have some ideas of your own.

To get some estimate of what you need, count the words in your ad and compare it with other ads you see of similar length.

But above all, be yourself. Write simply, and write as if you were talking to a voter with your ad. If it sounds awkward when read aloud, change it to something you would or could comfortably say.

You don't need to say everything in every ad—make a plan for outlining your campaign and follow it ad by ad. And, good luck in your effort.

Send Questions or Comments to S. Gale Denley, Associate Professor, Department of Journalism, University, Miss. 38677.

drag line to dig trenches to bury the trash.

"It would take every bit of our money to operate those dumps," Kellar said. "We would have nothing left over for anything else."

Bert Courrage, District One representative, said he is currently covering the dump in his area with dirt and added that dump is located in a sand pit area.

He said the dump was never declared a dump officially but that he has maintained the dump only out of necessity.

"If you close the dump then you will have people dumping some place else," he said.

Board Attorney Gex agreed, saying people will not travel 40 to 50 miles round trip to another dump site because of the price of gas.

Gex said people will find an empty lot and begin dumping.

"Pretty soon the person who owns that land will get a compliance order, and will have to close that dump," Gex said.

Kellar reminded the representatives of the cost of maintaining the dumps and the proposal was tabled.

As a result, the County School Board during a special recessed meeting Wednesday authorized the closing of all four dumps Feb. 21, 1981.

Sills said "no dumping" signs will be posted, the areas will be closed off and a sign giving directions to the closest dump will be posted by that date.

The compliance schedule requires extinguishing fires, prohibiting burning and exterminating insects and rodents at all dumps by June 30, 1981.

The schedule also calls for cleaning the areas, compacting and covering the waste with two feet of soil by July 30, 1982 for all dumps except the dump in Pearlinton.

That dump is scheduled to be covered by July 30, 1983.

Planting seeds to prevent erosion or wash-off of soil is scheduled to occur by July 30, 1983.

"Seeding of the Pearlinton dump is scheduled for July 30, 1984."

In other business at the county supervisor's meeting, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis swore in the County Election Commissioners for their next four year term.

Those members include Jacob V. Ladner of Beat One, Francis L. Lee of Beat Two, John V. Ladner of Beat Three, Harry Seuzeneau of Beat Four and Charles E. Gottschalk of Beat Five.

In further business the board approved the purchase of a $8,389 patrol car and two new $2,690 engines for the Hancock County Sheriff's Department from Charlie Henderson Ford of Waveland.

Sheriff Ronnie Peterson had informed the board that two Ford automobiles currently used by the department have over 100,000 miles. He said a Chevrolet patrol car has over 130,000 miles.

Also during the regularly scheduled meeting, the board authorized Dr. Michael Smith, president of Advanced Development Engineers, to prepare a free preapplication form to obtain funds available from the Coastal Energy Impact Program.

Smith said there is a need for good drainage in the south western area of Hancock County from Bay St. Louis to Clermont Harbor. He said $780,000 in funding is available for construction of a drainage system.

from the community.

Price for admission is $5. Cuevas explained the inner mechanics of the play relating the performance to the ocean.

"It moves in and out like the tide throughout the play. In the end we are able to catch it on the way out and draw it back in."

Byrd agreed the play is very moving. She said the play draws tears from the audience.

"One man told me he had to take his glasses off because he was constantly wiping his eyes," she said.

She added the play got the only standing ovation ever witnessed in the Hattiesburg competition.

According to Cuevas and Blackwell, that was a frightening experience.

The two explained how the fear was related to competition rules.

Each cast and crew is given 10 minutes to set up, 40 minutes to perform and 10 minutes to strike the set.

Any play which goes over that time limit is disqualified.

"If you leave a scrap of paper on the floor after you strike the set you get disqualified," she said.

Byrd explained how both Cuevas and Blackwell glanced nervously at her and the clock when the audience demanded they appear on stage for a final bow.

"We were scared to death we were going to run over time and be disqualified," Cuevas said.

The performance here Friday will be staged according to the competition rules.

Byrd said reverting back the full length play would be confusing to the actors and possibly throw their timing off during the Orlando performance.

Any disqualification or mistakes will stop their chances of continuing on to national competition in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Byrd said members of other theatre groups have given the Bay Little Theatre a lot of support.

"Many have told us they expect to see us in Kalamazoo," she said.

"I hope the community will support us so we can make it," she said.

Vandalism

Sills requested the board pay $98 to Hillman for tire replacement, but the board tabled action on the matter.

Board President Monvel Cuevas suggested, "Let's find out if he has insurance on this."

Board member Woodrow Ladner noted that former Athletic Director and Assistant HNC High School Principal Charles Lyle had "all of his tires cut and we didn't pay for it."

Sills also lists broken windows at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore where a car's vinyl top was slashed while parked at the school.

Charles B. Murphy Elementary

School also has fallen victim to vandals.

Sills lists:

—Some 27 gymnasium windows broken;

—Bus tires slashed;

—Air let out of car tires while parked at the school;

—Bus No. 18 had several items broken costing the district $39 which include seven bulbs along with two signal light, two stop light, two tail light and two back-up light lenses.

Sills said three "dropouts," former students at the schools, have been apprehended in a investigation of the incidents.

"Two have been caught at HNC and one at Gulfview. However, the vandals who struck Charles B. Murphy haven't been caught yet," Sills stated.

But Investigator Delbert Seay of the sheriff's department said, "We're investigating the tires being slashed on a bus at HNC, but we haven't arrested anybody yet."

"To my knowledge we haven't received any information about the principal's tires being slashed, but all of these other incidents are under investigation," Seay explained.

Records expected to fall in state powerlift event

Four participants have announced they will be attempting to set world records Saturday in the Mississippi Powerlifting Championships at St. Stanislaus' Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium.

The meet is sanctioned by the United States Powerlifting Federation, and lifters are expected from Georgia, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, and Mississippi.

Since this is the official annual powerlifting championships for the state of Mississippi, all judges will be national card holders.

In compliance with USPF rules, four lifters have informed meet officials that they will attempt world records. As a result of those announcements, provisions have been made to bring in three Category II international judges to certify the possible world records, said Brother Bennett, SC, meet coordinator.

All proceeds will go to the Right-to-Life Movement and the Retarded Childrens Program in Long Beach, Brother Bennett added.

"We're hoping for a record crowd for this athletic event so that good causes may be helped," the cleric stated.

Lifting will begin at 9 a.m. Admission donation is $3.

RAYMOND KOBETZ, a young businessman from Baton Rouge, La. and current holder of the squat and deadlift records in Louisiana, will attempt a world deadlift record in the 165 pound class at Saturday's State Powerlift event at SSC. Kobetz holds a black belt in karate.

JOE EARL BRADLEY, a national and world champion, will attempt to break his own world records in powerlifting at Stanislaus Gym Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Bradley participated in the United States Championships when they were held in Bay St. Louis in August, 1979. (Photo courtesy SSC)

DR. FRED HATFIELD PhD of New Orleans and formerly of Madison, Wis., a fitness coach and author of two books on the subject, is holder of two Louisiana state records. Hatfield also participated in the Senior Nationals here in 1979. In 1980 World Championships he set a world record squat of 525 pounds in the

BKW boxers score four wins in Ocean Springs

The Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club engaged in six matches on a 20-bout card Saturday night at the Taconi School Gym in Ocean Springs. Four wins and two losses were recorded in the AAU sanctioned bouts sponsored by the Ocean Springs Boxing Club.

Chuck Karl won a unanimous decision over Robert James of Saucier by beating him to the punch and using combinations.

Found in the winners circle again was John Poolson of the BKW squad. He defeated James Atwood of the Bel-Air Boxing Club.

Winning by a walk over was BKW boxer Jimmy McCune over Brian Wheat of Ocean Springs Boxing Club.

Giving up 10 pounds and winning an impressive exhibition victory over Bill Williams of Ocean Springs was Shane Whisenhunt a three-year BKW member.

Losing by an unpopular judge's decision was Todd Rooks to Chris Blacker of Mobile Boxing Club.

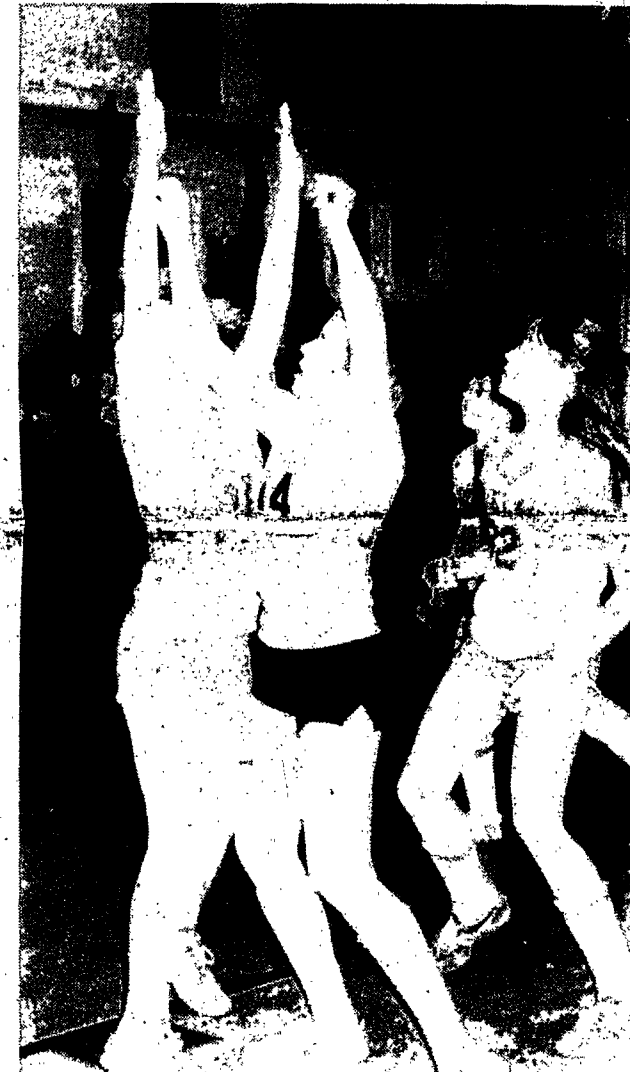

"No doubt about it, Mobile was handed the decision on a silver platter, but Todd was the clear winner," lamented BKW Coach John Whisenhunt.

Making his boxing debut was Wayne Karl who found himself losing on a hometown decision to David Kenny of Ocean Springs Boxing Club.

Unable to schedule matches were Kyle Haas and Chris Whisenhunt.

The BKW team this week is working long hours preparing for up-coming South Mississippi Golden Gloves tournament on the USM campus in Hattiesburg, Feb. 27, 28 and March 1.

Coaching from the corner Saturday in Ocean Springs was Nicky Slade.

Flotilla schedules boating course

Flotilla 35, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will conduct a safe boating course beginning Thursday March 12 at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

This course will run for six consecutive Thursdays with a final test on April 23.

Registration is at 7 p.m. March 12. Classes are from 7 to 10 p.m.

Subjects will include boat handling, rules of the road, required equipment, weather, charts, navigational aids, marine engines and more.

"If you are interested in boating, you are welcome," said Jim Williams public relations officer.

At a recent meeting, the Flotilla elected Hank Rodrigue commander and Larry Parkinson vice commander.

Appointed staff officers include Harold Eddins, public education; Paul Blake, vessel examiner; Ed Wilcox, operations; John Dugan, growth and retention; Howard Haines, member training; Bill Carlin, finance; John Kentzel, communications and Jim Williams, public relations.

Coast Guard endorses boat safety courses

Beached boaters in northern climates and their more fortunate compatriots to the south are looking forward to the increased activity that comes with the advent of spring.

How best to prepare? Rear Admiral Harold Parker, the officer in charge of the U.S. Coast Guard's national boating safety program, recommends one of the boating education courses offered by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary such as that being offered by Flotilla 35 beginning March 12 at Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Courses offered by the Auxiliary can improve boating skills, increase confidence and may even save a few dollars in insurance premiums, Parker points out.

Parker, a 34-year veteran of the Coast Guard, is the Chief of its Office of Boating, Public and Consumer Affairs. In this job he manages the Coast Guard's boating safety effort of which the Auxiliary program is a part.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary is the volunteer civilian arm of the Coast Guard. Members of the Auxiliary, in addition to conducting a "top rate" boating education program, assist the Coast Guard in many search and rescue operations.

"The Auxiliary has a course to suit just about any boater's experience level," Parker said. "Courses for kids, inexperienced new boatowners, experienced boaters, sailors, motorboaters, small boat operators. The auxiliary has put together an education program which is the most comprehensive a person will find."

Parker said that courses range in length from one to 13 lessons.

At Oak Downs

Comfort horses score win, place and show

(Special to the Sea Coast Echo)

PEARL RIVER, La. — Tangipahoa Parish horsemen won five of eight races Sunday on a rainy afternoon at Oak Downs, including the day's closest finish.

Jeff Addison's Shake It Baby nosed out Ole Gallant Lady, owned and trained by Kathy Johnson of Denham Springs, in the 350-yard third race.

Shake It Baby was clocked in 19.305 seconds while Ole Gallant Lady's late stretch charge fell short by 1-100th of a second.

Alvin Addison's Jenny's Image outdistanced Believe It by a length and a half and Cincinnati Red by three lengths in capturing the 350-yard seventh.

The Addison's are from Loranger.

The first Tangipahoa horseman to visit the winner's circle was Earl Bankston, who put across Chicken Coop Charlie with a time of 19.53 in the 350-yard first. Gerald Averett, also from Loranger, saw his Give Me Some Room run second in the first.

Leslie Chambers, also a Loranger horseman, was victorious with his Billy's Lightning in the 250-yard fourth against Sunny.

Averett's Passum Charge, a steady winner at Oak Downs, won the 350-yard fifth with V-Toe Omega two lengths behind and Fluker's Linebacker, owned by Chambers, a distant third.

Pearl River County, Miss., horsemen accounted for the other three wins as Bill Harris of Picayune put across Bull Dragon in the 1/2-mile second against Star, owned and trained by Eddie Zundelm of Slidell and John Paul Amacker of Poplarville won with both April's Injun in the 350-yard sixth and Omega Diana in the 200-yard eighth.

Omega Diana was declared the winner as Bill's Paid was disqualified for fouling.

JoAnn Boatwright of Cantonment, Fla., the track's leading jockey last year and again this year, rode in all eight races, winning five and placing second three times.

Marty Comfort of Hancock County, the second-leading jockey, had one winner, three seconds and a third.

Leo Fricke, the third-ranking jockey won aboard his only mount of the day, Passum Charge, and Suzanne Alexander, guided Bull Dragon to his victory. Fricke and Alexander are from Picayune.

Trainer standings for the 1981 meet have Amacker leading with 12 wins, a second and one third; Richard Graham of Harrison County with nine firsts, four seconds and two thirds; Averett with seven victories and six seconds; Junior Rester of Lumberton, Miss., with four firsts and four seconds; and Frank Comfort of the Kiln community in Hancock County with four wins and one second.

In the jockey standings, Boatwright has won 26 races, finished second 23 times and was third twice;

Marty Comfort has 14 wins, 21 seconds and two thirds; Fricke has seven trips to the winners' circle, five seconds and three thirds; Ray Robbins of Grand Bay, Ala., has ridden six winners and two seconds; David Guillory of Lafayette has four wins and three seconds; and Kenny Shows of

Perk's first pitch scheduled Friday.....

Gulf Coast Junior College is scheduled to begin the defense of its 1980 state championship baseball title Friday at Perkinston Campus.

The Bulldogs, minus the services of all but five starters from last year's squad, play East Mississippi at 1 p.m., the first game of a double-header.

Bulldog Coach Ken Farris, a 19-year veteran whose teams have won 12 state titles, will be counting heavily on the pitching prowess of Keith Medley of St. Martin.

Medley, picked by the San Diego Padres in their winter baseball draft, returned to college to complete his sophomore year. "He will talk with the scouts at the end of the season," said Farris.

The right-hander amassed 11 wins and only 3 losses last year in helping the Bulldogs post a 33-12 record, good enough to carry the team to the National Junior College Athletic Association's Eastern Division tournament.

In the playoffs at Cleveland, Tenn., the Bulldogs lost 2-1 to Louisville, N.C. and 5-4 in 13 innings to Spartanburg, S.C.

But Farris prefers to look ahead. "We have the nucleus of another good team," he predicts. Returnees, other than Medley, are No. 2 pitcher Scott Nettles and his understudy, and third baseman, Greg Beaugez, both of Ocean Springs; Reed Allison, left fielder from Gulfport; and right fielder Tony Miles of Pascagoula.

"Beaugez is expected to provide leadership in the infield," said Farris. "Allison will continue to contribute power at the plate, and Miles, a starter at shortstop last year, will provide experience in the outfield," the coach added.

He said "pitching should be our strong point. And team speed is expected to work to our advantage, both offensively and defensively." Farris admitted he will miss All-American outfielder Bobby Collins, who led the team in hitting .380 and accounting for 53 RBI's, and the Pascagoula star's twin, Billy.

"Billy stole 33 bases to lead the team in this category," said Farris. The brothers this year are attending the University of Alabama at Birmingham on baseball scholarships.

Eager to fill the vacancies left by departing players are six who were not starters last year. They are Alan Ezell, first base; Gary Gray, second base; and Randy Walters, right field, all of Pascagoula; Bruce Roberts, center field and Mike White, pitcher, both of Long Beach; and Bill Lipscomb of Gulfport, pitcher.

Rounding out the roster are freshmen and transfers "who are expected to contribute much to the 1981 Bulldog team," said Arris. They include:

First baseman Richard Aniels of Ocean Springs and John Rae of Gulfport; shortstops Gerald Ray of Cumberland and Greg Landreneau of Oak Grove; left fielders Brian Kozlowski of Biloxi and Freddie Triplett of Ocean Springs; third baseman Dondi Rohr of Hattiesburg; center fielder Glenn Cook of Hattiesburg; and second baseman Albert Farmer of Harrison Central.

Others are center fielders Kevin Anisson of Callaway-

Winter bird feed practice outlined

By JERRY NICHOLSON
The winter bird feeding program should be started early in the fall, by the first part of November, at the latest. The birds need some time to find your feeder and this may take a couple of weeks.

The English sparrows will no doubt find it first if you live in town. Cardinals or sparrows will probably be the first ones to it if you live in the country.

Even if sparrows are the first ones on your feeder, do not drive them away. The sight of a flock of birds of any variety at your feeder will invariably attract other birds.

You must decide just what type of feeder to use. The size or style is not important — just remember to keep it practical.

A simple platform is best. It doesn't have to be covered but a roof will help protect the feed. You will need some small holes in the feeder so the rain will drain out. Do not worry about any feed that is washed out, the birds will find it on the ground.

You may want to partition off the feeder so you can keep the seeds or feed separated.

The best food to offer your birds is suet and a mixture of wild bird seeds. Suet is a favorite with insect-eating birds.

Firm white beef suet is best. This may be offered in two ways: by nailing or tying it to a tree or post and hanging it in crocheted or knotted bags.

If you nail or tie it to a tree be sure it is secure or a Bluejay or woodpecker may make off with the whole piece.

There are many substitutes to suet you may want to try, melted fat grease mixed with bread crumbs, peanut butter mixed with fine corn meal, stale bread, donuts, and pure lard if it is hard enough.

When feeding birds seeds, it is important to offer both large and small seeds such as sunflower, wheat, millet, hemp, rape, corn, chicken feed and scratch feed. Chicken feed or cracked corn should be offered with a mixture of wild bird seed.

One of the most successful ways to attract birds is to scatter feed on the ground. This is the way in which birds find most of their natural food — among dried grass and weeds. This natural setting gives the birds confidence.

The most important rule to follow when feeding birds in the winter is once you begin do not stop until spring. You also need to include fine grit with your seeds to aid the birds in digesting the seeds.

USM announces homecoming date

Homecoming 1981 at The University of Southern Mississippi has been set for Saturday, Oct. 3.

The decision was made by the Alumni Association Executive Committee at a recent quarterly meeting.

USM's Golden Eagles will play host to Texas Arlington for the football game.

Homecoming activities will include election of new Alumni Association officers, judging of campus decorations, the annual Alumni Golf Tournament, a meeting of the USM Foundation and the annual business meeting where the main "business" will be honoring outstanding service to the University during 1980-81 by alumni, staff and friends.

The university is urging all former students and friends of the university to mark the Oct. 3 date on their calendars now and start making plans to be a part of Homecoming '81 festivities.

The Gulf Council developed the groundfish plan after several months of study of all available statistical and scientific information as well as input from persons involved in the fishery.

The following public hearings are set: February 23, Panama City, Fla., City Commissioners Meeting Room; February 23, Galveston, Tex., jury assembly room in the County Courthouse; February 24, New Orleans, La., Landmark Hotel; February 25, Biloxi, Biloxi Cultural Center; and February 26, Mobile, Ala., Church St. Holiday Inn.

All the hearings begin at 7 p.m. Gulf Council staff members will record all comments made at the hearings and they will be reviewed by the Council before the plan is implemented.

The Gulf Council urges all participants in the groundfish fishery and other interested persons to provide their input on the plan either at the public hearings or in writing.

Comments on the plan can be written to and summaries of the plan obtained from: Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Lincoln Center, Suite 881, 5401 West Kennedy Boulevard, Tampa, Fla., 33609.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
The South Mississippi Electric Power Association (SMEPA) in compliance with the Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA) is conducting a public hearing open to the public for itself and its member cooperatives - Southwest Mississippi Electric Power Association, Twin County Electric Power Association, Coast Electric Power Association, Magnolia Electric Power Association, Coshoma Electric Power Association, Delta Electric Power Association, Southern Pine Electric Power Association, Pearl River Valley Electric Power Association, Singing River Electric Power Association, Delta Electric Power Association and Vancow Valley Electric Power Association.

PURPA requires electric utilities to purchase electricity generated by small power production facilities and co-generation facilities which qualify under federal rules at the utilities avoided cost. In order to qualify, small power producers must use waste or renewable resources to generate electricity with use of fossil fuels (coal, oil or gas) only as necessary for certain permitted purposes. Co-generation facilities must produce electricity and heat used for industrial, commercial, heating or cooling purposes. The capacity of small power production facilities is limited to a maximum of 80 megawatts. The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) determines which facilities qualify under the law for the rights and exemptions allowed.

The purpose of the hearings will be to discuss PURPA and to present information on SMEPA's proposed avoided cost rate tariff and interconnection charges which will apply to PURPA qualifying facilities. All interested parties will be heard during the proceedings. Those parties interested in presenting information at the hearing should notify SMEPA of their desire to present testimony of facts or opinions in order to reserve time at the hearing. All requests for time will be acknowledged by return mail. Interested parties should include a brief discussion of the issues to be addressed with their requests for time. Any person who would like to present comments regarding PURPA but cannot attend the meetings, should mail his statement to the address below. A permanent record of the events occurring within the context of the hearings will be maintained.

The hearings have been scheduled as follows:
Tuesday, March 17, 1981, 10:00 A.M., Auditorium, Greenwood, LaFlore County Chamber of Commerce, U.S. Highway 82-49 Bypass, Greenwood, Mississippi.

Volunteer Revival for Army Reserve
Membership in the Army Reserve is growing. Civilians are volunteering to give 38 days a year in exchange for a second paycheck and Reserve benefits.

There's an old Army maxim that warns soldiers: Don't volunteer for anything. It seems that since the abolition of the draft, at least as far as the Army Reserve is concerned, most of America heeded that rule. That is, until recently.

In 1973, when the Volunteer Army had its start, the Army Reserve—the largest of the Reserve components with a fully-manned peacetime strength of 260,000 in troop units—experienced the beginning of a personnel decline that lasted for five years. In 1979 the Army Reserve turned the corner toward making a comeback. That year it increased its ranks to 190,000 in its total of 3,200 units. The next year brought the total to more than 205,000. And predictions for 1981 see that number growing to 215,000. Today the Army Reserve is still 55,000 soldiers short of its full strength, but the trend has been set. The Army Reserve is attracting new prospects and retaining veterans.

Why the renewed interest in the Army Reserve? There are several reasons. For one, the economy has

WHAT'S A TREE WORTH?
It is easy to appraise the commercial value of any tree. By determining the value of wood in the tree, a definite value for pulpwood, saw timber, poles or other valuable forest products can be found by simple calculation.

However, when dealing with an individual shade or ornamental tree, the evaluation procedure becomes difficult. The value of shade and ornamental trees must be based on their contribution of aesthetic quality, beauty, ecological or social contribution.

For instance, in the sale of real estate it is often evident that the presence of trees on the property adds a positive value to the selling price.

Many realtors have noted that wooded lots sell first. Housing, sub-division and apartment complexes advertise trees as a major attraction.

Names like pinewood, oak hills, etc. highlights the fact that trees draw home buyers at a higher price than developments without sizeable trees.

Trees transform property into a home setting and character all its own. They are a valuable asset to both owner and his community.

Trees may also add value in other ways. With the ever increasing energy shortage, trees will pay an ever more important role in our lives. Shade provided by trees can substantially reduce energy requirement for cooling and heating.

Deciduous trees let the warm sun through in winter to add to your heating. Strategically located evergreens can do reduce energy requirements for

VA pensioners must refund overpayments

A number of persons receiving Veterans Administration disability and death benefits will soon be faced with overpayment notices for 1980. Many of these overpayments occurred because the individuals failed to notify the VA of an increase in their incomes during the year, according to Mike Ladner, Hancock County veterans service officer.

Veterans in receipt of nonservice-connected disability pensions, and widows and children receiving death pensions, are paid benefits if their annual incomes remains within certain limits.

Veterans, widows and children receiving VA benefits under the new pension law which went into effect January 1, 1979, must report immediately any change in their incomes.

Failure to do so may result in an overpayment in benefits, as any adjustment required must be made on the first day of the month following the change.

If they wait until the end of the year to report income increases, the VA must make the necessary payment adjustment retroactive, thus creating an overpayment for each month involved.

In most instances, the VA benefits are reduced dollar for dollar under the new pension law.

Those under the old pension law are receiving the frozen rate of VA benefits to which they were entitled on December 31, 1973, and such payments will continue unless their annual income exceeds the limit set by public law.

Most VA pensioners have received an annual income questionnaire card which must be completed and returned prior to January 1, 1981. Those needing help to complete the report should contact Ladner at 467-2100.

Supervisors to monitor

VA telephone courtesies

To assure that callers get courteous, accurate responses on the telephone, the Jackson Regional Office of the Veterans Administration plans to occasionally monitor telephone calls between benefits counselors and the public, according to Director J. L. Dozier.

Dozier said that silent monitoring by supervisor personnel will be used to evaluate the quality of service and to determine training needs.

"Examples of superior telephone interviewing techniques will be used as a basis for training sessions," Dozier said, "where the need for courteous, empathetic, compassionate attitudes toward all callers will be stressed."

Dozier said that this program will begin in March throughout VAs 58 veterans service offices but he cautioned that no record of the caller's name, address, claim or telephone number will be kept.

VA beneficiaries will be notified of the occasional monitoring through the mail, when requests for benefits information are filled; in person, through the prominent display of posters and handouts; and by telephone, with a recorded message heard by callers temporarily put on hold while trying to reach a benefits counselor.

Dozier said that all employees have been informed of the monitoring procedure and that all phones subject to silent monitoring will be marked.

All 50 states have toll-free telephone service to benefits counselors in VA regional offices in the white pages telephone directory under U. S. Government.

Bay legion post, unit members attend Mid-Winter Conference

A delegation of 13 members from the Clement R. Bon Temps, American Legion Post No. 139 attended an American Legion Mid-Winter Conference in Jackson recently.

"The conference registered 450 delegates from throughout the State of Mississippi—the largest number ever registered at a mid-winter conference," said local Legion spokesman Bill Moran recently.

"The year 1980 was another exciting year for the American Legion," Moran stated.

"Marked by accomplishments and achievements, expansions and progress, the year, 1980, is now history. Speakers presented a brief review of some of the events and activities of the past 12 months. Veterans affairs, followed by children and youth programs were the main topic of debate. Community involvement was evident with the highly successful Scouting program's boy's and girl's state programs and numerous blood drives," Moran reported. "Lee F. Colwell, assistant director of the FBI in Washington, D.C., briefed the assembly on national security matters and forecasted a positive future for the United States and the American Legion," Moran said.

"He thanked the Legion for its continuing support of the FBI and helping American people reach their objectives of the past years," he noted. Moran said convention members were entertained at a banquet and dance.

Members in attendance from Post No. 139 were: Margaret and Henry Prevou, Lou and John Wilkerson, Evelyn and Jessie Burns, Anna and Gilbert Gayout, Phyllis and Billy Moran, John Rutherford, Horace Ruhr, and Bob Givens.

"Plans are now underway for a state convention at the downtown Holiday Inn in Jackson on July 9-12.

AUXILIARY CONFERENCE. "Members of American Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Unit No. 139 in Bay St. Louis attended Mid-Winter Conference in Jackson recently. "Special guest Dora Seymour, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary was introduced by Inez McCain, state president," Moran noted.

The famed Mole' (pronounced mo-lay) sauce of Old Mexico, spicy, ever so chocolaty and delicious, originated, we are told, in a convent in Puebla, Mexico when the nuns panicked upon receiving word that the most exalted Archbishop was on his way for a visit.

Scurrying about the convent kitchen and garden, the dear sisters collected and ground up just about everything in sight — chilis, onions, tomatoes, nuts various spices, garlic — even the last chocolate around.

They tossed the whole business into a pot, hopeful it would make some sort of acceptable sauce or other, for something around the place, and simmered it for a long time.

Meanwhile, the local bishop — after all the archbishop did outrank him — lost out on a good turkey dinner, for the good sisters sacrificed their only bird in all the barnyard (times were a bit hard, then as now).

They cut it into serving pieces, browned and simmered it — I'm sure they had goodly splashes of wine to add — then they sauced it, cooking it some more till tender.

And thus, we understand, what is universally regarded as Mexico's national dish — PAVO EN MOLE POBLANO — was born.

Of course, just as with our own sauces, the ingredients are changed to suit the tastes of the cook, some like it hotter to the taste, others milder. You can also make this dish with chicken, or with leftover turkey or chicken, cut in bite-sized pieces, cutting down the cooking time, of course as we do in today's recipe.

And you can, as we did, streamline the recipe by using canned chilis rather than taking on the chore of preparing the chili peppers. So here's:

TURKEY MOLE'

1 cup slivered almonds
1 cup chopped onion
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 16-oz. can tomato sauce
2 tablespoon oil
Generous dash of pepper (about 1/4 teaspoon)
1 oz. unsweetened chocolate
Dashes of cinnamon and cloves
2 cans green chili salsa, 8 oz. each

2 cups cooked turkey or chicken, cut bite-size
Saute the almonds, onions, and garlic in the oil over medium to low heat, stirring often, for about 15 minutes, then stir in the cinnamon, cloves, pepper, chocolate, tomato sauce and salsa, stirring till the chocolate melts.

If you want a puree, pour the whole business into electric blender; if not mix and mash it around till the texture suits you.

Return to the skillet, stir in the turkey and simmer a few minutes. Serve over rice, and if you wish to be extra-elegant, top with additional almonds and raisins and even avocado slices.

Local library system honoring Dr. Seuss

The Hancock County Library System will participate in a nationwide celebration of Dr. Seuss' 77th birthday on March 2.

"Special activities have been planned to honor the children's author who has become part of our American heritage," says Beck Mitchum, Children's Librarian.

"Each library in the county will have a birthday card at the circulation desk for children and adults to sign.

The cards will be mailed to Dr. Seuss for his birthday," she notes.

Commemorative book-marks will be given to patrons visiting a library in Hancock this month," Mitchum adds.

"The bookmarks and birthday cards were designed by Randall Teasley, a free-lance artist and Georgette Thomas, children's librarian at the Bolivar County Public Library," Mitchum reports.

"We will present a Dr. Seuss story hour and birthday party for pre-school children and their parents on Thursday, Feb. 26, at 10:30 a.m. at City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis. A Dr. Seuss bulletin board and book display are also being planned at the headquarter's library," the children's librarian explains. "Dorita Lindahl of Minnesota will collect newspaper clippings nationwide which publicize Dr. Seuss birthday events. These clippings will be sent to him as a birthday present," Mitchum adds.

For more information, call the library at 467-5282.

Government reaps dollar harvest from oil leases

Oil companies paid the federal government $4.2 billion last year for leases to explore for oil and natural gas in the Gulf of Mexico and Gulf of Alaska.

The U.S. Department of the Interior, which holds the lease sales, said the $4.2 billion total was the third largest amount the government has collected in lease sales in one year. The record is $5.078 billion paid in 1979 and the second highest was $5.022 billion in 1974.

In 1980 the government held three sales of leases for offshore acreage, two in the Gulf of Mexico and the other in the Alaskan waters. For Gulf of Mexico acreage, a record was set when $2,676,927,673 was offered in high bids on 116 tracts.

In that sale, a group of oil companies paid $52,467 per acre in one tract. That was the highest per acre price ever paid for an offshore lease.

The government will collect even more money if the oil companies produce oil or natural gas from these tracts. The government will receive a percentage of the sale price as a royalty and will also receive tax revenues on the income of the companies that produce and sell the oil and natural gas.

Brownbuilder Archie Osgood is working for you in Mississippi

Archie Osgood, from Moss Point, is a Mississippi Brownbuilder — one of the men and women of Brown & Root — working for you in Mississippi.

Archie joined Brown & Root in 1974 as a cement finisher and is now a cement finisher foreman. He and his wife, Emma, have five children attending Moss Point elementary, junior high, and high schools. Softball is Archie's favorite sport.

Mississippi Brownbuilders like Archie are working for you and thousands of your neighbors. He's helping to build the hardware, such as oil fields and power plants, which will help insure Mississippi's future growth and prosperity.

Because of Brown & Root's policy of hiring locally first, most of our Brownbuilders here are natives or longtime residents. Many of them first joined Brown & Root at project personnel offices near their homes. And, Brown & Root hires and promotes solely on the basis of individual ability and merit. Anyone willing and qualified is eligible to work. That way, local communities, counties and the state get maximum benefit from projects on which we work — hundreds of thousands of dollars in payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

County Agent's Notes

ACCIDENTS COST

A good farmer usually can find a way to overcome problems like unexpected production costs or low yields. But there are losses his business may not survive. These are the accidental deaths or disabling accidents which happen on hundreds of Mississippi farms every year. An estimated 6,000 disabling accidents will occur on state farms this year — 500 will be permanent. About 50 will result in death on the state's 50,000 to 60,000 farms.

Permanent injury of a farm owner or manager can ruin a business financially. Farm family members are usually the victims of farm mishaps. Understandably, these losses can hardly be overcome.

Tractor overturns, entanglement in equipment and falls are the most common fatal farm accidents. Suffocation, electrocution, poisoning, fires and traffic accidents are common, too.

The consequences of such accidents are replacing personnel, reorganizing the farm and facing liability suits which can bankrupt a farm business. Liability settlements in the $1 million range are occurring now.

Management is the only protection against accidents. Insurance provides only limited financial protection against damages from accidents.

Information to help farmers reduce accidental losses is available at the County Extension Office.

BE READY AT PLANTING
The top priority for corn and soybean producers in February is to book seed. Locate and book the seed now to assure an adequate supply at planting time. I would ask for a vigor test, too.

You need to book pesticide and fertilizer supplies, if you know these needs. By booking early, you will be sure to get the materials recommended. Prices will be a little higher, but there should be enough to go around.

PECANS

If your pecan trees didn't produce this year, there could be several reasons why. They may not have received enough plant nutrients.

If you haven't fertilized and limed your trees lately, they may need it. Soil testing can determine whether you need to apply fertilizer or lime.

If you need more information on taking a soil test, just call the County Agent's Office and we will furnish you with boxes and the necessary information.

This is a free service and does not cost the home owner anything. It could improve your pecan production this year.

GARDEN

Thorough planning is the first step in establishing your 1981 home garden. A good gardener starts early in the year by selecting the garden location. This area should receive full sunlight and be near a water source.

There are several factors to consider when choosing the vegetables you will grow. Consider available garden space, family likes and dislikes, freezing and canning needs and your gardening ability. Don't waste time and money by planting more than you can use or maintain.

We are now cleaning and servicing all makes and models, central & window unit air conditioners.

Junior college English teachers set Coast meet

Not since 1968 has the Southeastern Conference on English in the Two-Year College (SCETC) convened on the Mississippi Coast.

But members of the organization will be back this month for their 16th annual gathering, an event that will include among the participants Shirley Ann Grau, Pulitzer-Prize winning novelist from New Orleans. The three-day conference at Biloxi's Royal d'Iberville begins on Thursday, Feb. 19. More than 500 English instructors from nine states are expected to attend the affair, hosted by Gulf Coast Junior College.

Delivering the keynote address will be Dr. John H. Fisher, author and editor who is the 1980-81 Chancellor's Research Scholar at the University of Tennessee.

Nell Henderson, English instructor at GJC's Perkins Campus and chairperson of the local arrangements committee, said Fisher will discuss "Language, Manners, Laws and Customs." He will speak at 2:45 p.m. on Thursday, following the opening general session at 2 p.m.

Welcoming the group will be GJC President J.J. Hayden Jr., Biloxi Mayor Jerry O'Keefe and Mrs. Henderson. She said the theme of the conference is "Standards: A Stance for the Eighties."

"This theme will be developed during a series of workshops covering a variety of subjects, including composition, creative writing, literature and journalism," Mrs. Henderson said.

She said Miss Grau, whose book, "Keepers of the House," won the Pulitzer in 1965, will speak on Friday at a 7:30 p.m. banquet.

Entertainment will be by The Kids of Note, a vocal ensemble from Perkinson Campus, directed by Eugene Clement, chairperson of the fine arts department.

Among the other speakers scheduled at the conference are novelist Mark Steadman; Jean Todd Freeman, a former editor of Ladies Home Journal, and Dr. Walker Gibson.

Gibson, who will close the conference at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, is from the University of Massachusetts. He has published widely in journals including The New Yorker, Saturday Review, and New York Times Magazine. In addition, he has authored or co-authored numerous books. Among them are "Seeing and Writing," and "The Macmillan Handbook of English."

Mrs. Henderson said the conference is the largest of its kind in the United States. "Members of SCETC, by exchanging ideas and meeting with authorities in many fields of English, become better teachers and thus are able to provide better instruction to students in two-year colleges," she added.

Unusually mild weather in the midwest is allowing cattle to gain weight faster than normal. Consequently they are hitting market ready earlier than expected, and adding numbers with undesirable excess fat to the already plentiful supply. Buyers are very selective as to quality, yield grade and weight.

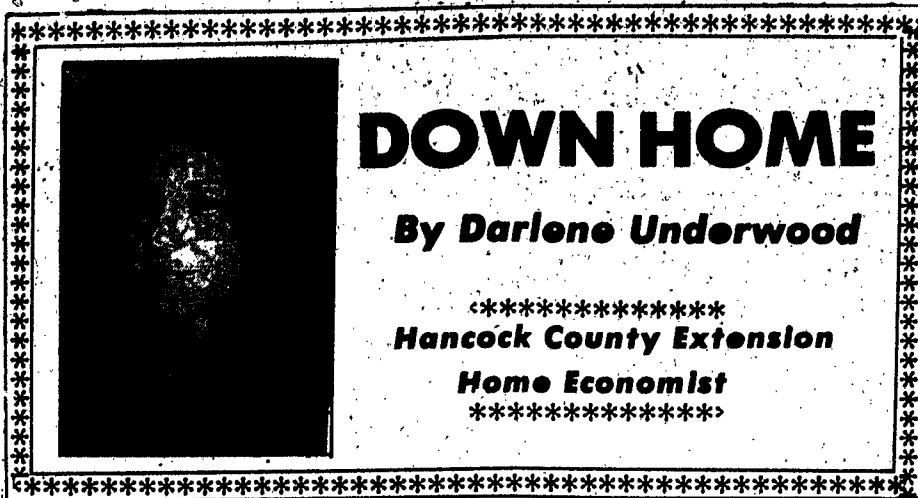

That some selectively is apparent in the dressed meat trade, with 600-700 lbs. carcasses in best demand. Feeder cattle in Mississippi continue their downward trend with demand very light for the rather small supply. A light general rain and mild weather has materially aided winter pasture growth.

At the Mississippi Livestock auctions for the week ended January 29, 1981 cattle receipts 6700, down 600 from the previous week and 1.00 more than a year ago. Slaughter cows steady to 2.00 higher with Utility 1-3 40-46, Cutter 1-2 36-44.

The St. Louis hog market had 28,300 head, down 4,300 from previous week higher 4000 from year ago. Butcher hogs were steady, 50 higher. On Friday U.S. 1-2 200-24 lbs. 42.00-42.25. Sows were 1.00-2.00 lower. U.S. 1-3 300-500 lbs. 35.00-35.50 over 500 lbs. 36.00-38.00. Boars over 300 lbs. 33.50. Slaughter cows steady to 2.00 higher with Utility 1-3 40.00-46.00, Cutter 1-2 36.00-44.00.

Feeder Steers under 400 lbs. were 2.00-4.00 lower, over 400 lbs. steady to 1.00 lower.

NATIONAL HEALTH QUIZ

We Americans are not as healthy as we could be. We eat and drink too much. We smoke and drug ourselves until we're sick. We don't exercise nearly enough. And we don't know as much as we should about good health habits.

However, there is reason to be optimistic. More than ever before, Americans want to know how to take better care of themselves and how to prevent serious health problems.

In response to the unprecedented demand for medical and health information, the Public causes of death: heart disease, cancer, stroke and auto accidents.

In the heart disease category, for example, viewers will be able to determine how such factors as blood pressure, cholesterol level, family history of heart disease, smoking, weight and exercise combine to increase or decrease their risk of death due to heart disease.

The National Health Quiz will also allow viewers to compute their "body age," which may be more or less than their actual age depending upon their physical condition, medical history and behavior patterns as habits. In order to obtain the most accurate test results possible, it is recommended that viewers know their blood pressure and, if possible, their cholesterol count as well.

Dr. Jack Hall, who, along with Dr. Lewis C. Robbins, is a leading medical authority in the field of prospective medicine, served as consultant to the development of "The National Health Quiz." Robbins and Hall, both associated with the Health Hazard Appraisal Program at the Methodist Hospital of Indiana in Indianapolis, have developed an accurate procedure for identifying and specific disease than the "average" man or woman of his or her actual age.

"The National Health Quiz" incorporates the health hazard appraisal methods developed by Robbins and Hall into an easy-to-understand test to be administered by Cheryl Tiegs and Peter Graves.

Though the test results will be more general and less accurate than the results of the comprehensive tests developed by Hall and Robbins, they will help viewers to identify risk areas.

It is recommended that viewers seek the advice of their physicians regarding possible remedial and preventive measures that might be taken to reduce their health risks.

The form to assist you in recording your self-evaluation while viewing the show is below. Although the quiz may be taken without the form, the form will make it much easier to tabulate your risk scores.

HOW TO USE THIS FORM: 1) Write your age on the first line. 2) On each successive line, write your answer to the risk factor question. 3) In each box, keep a running total of your "body age" by adding or subtracting the "risk factor" above it. 4) Continue this procedure and keep a running score throughout the quiz.

Broadcasting Service will present "The National Health Quiz," PBS consumer self-care series "Here's to Your Health."

Cover girl and health and beauty reporter Cheryl Tiegs and actor Peter Graves will co-host the special program to be nationally telecast Sunday, February 21, 1981 at 9 p.m. PBS (check local listings).

"The National Health Quiz" will test viewers' general medical knowledge and evaluate their health risk factors for the four leading tabulated on the score sheet.

For example, a man who is 41 years old might have a body age of 46, meaning he would have the same likelihood of dying within the next 10 years as a man aged 46. His increased body age could be attributed to factors such as being overweight, having high blood pressure or smoking cigarettes.

But that same man could lower his health risks and even become a 41-year-old man in a 38-year-old's body if he modified his poor health evaluating an individual's health risks.

Their comprehensive evaluation technique is based on the individual's medical history, physical condition and behavior pattern.

The data compiled on the individual is compared to the "average risk" of death of the general population in the individual's age and sex category. This comparison is based on mortality studies.

The test results show if the individual is statistically more likely or less likely to die of a

January term report by Hancock Grand Jury

In the Circuit Court of Hancock County, Miss. Jan. 1981 Term.

To the honorable Leslie B. Grant, circuit judge, presiding.

We, the Hancock County Grand Jury, having been duly empaneled, sworn and charged at the Jan., 1981, term, now submit our final report.

We have been in session for eight days, including Jan. 12, the day we were empaneled, during which time we have considered 63 cases. We returned 49 indictments and four no-bills. We passed seven cases to the next grand jury. We noted three cases were stricken from the docket. We heard 35 witnesses.

The grand jury recommends that the July, 1981, grand jury be furnished copies of this report, and time for familiarization with the 'Handbook for Grand Jurors' as their first order of business.

We further urge that they, closely review our specific recommendations and report accomplishments. County supervisors and administrators of the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland are to be furnished copies of this report as well as U.S. Senators Cochran and Stennis, also Congressman Lott, State Sen. Smith and Rep. Comptre.

HOME FOR THE AGED

The grand jury visited the Hancock County Home for the Aged and observed it to be a comfortable, well managed institution presently caring for 10 residents.

The Sheriff's office, local volunteer groups and individuals are to be commended for their necessary assistance in the operation of the home.

Mrs. Garcia is the only full-time employee. She is to be commended for her devotion to the home and its residents.

The grand jury recommends the following:

1. Routine inspection, at least annually, for fire and safety;
2. Training of personnel in use of fire extinguishers and disaster procedures;
3. Folding stairways be installed for access to air condition and heating equipment in attic;
4. Smoke detectors and fire alarms be installed;
5. Hand rails be installed for both tubs and commodes.

HANCOCK GENERAL HOSPITAL

In our interview with the controller of the hospital it was revealed that full compliance with accreditation criteria is still not scheduled. We urge high priority be given to meet these standards and that the board of supervisors establish a 'firm' date for inspection to obtain accreditation.

We noted the following:

1. Loose and exposed wiring in maintenance area. This needs to be repaired to meet NEC specifications;
2. The kitchen and cafeteria area were found to be dirty and cluttered;
3. Materials are stored in hallways creating a fire hazard and safety problem.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

The grand jury visited the Hancock County Health Department.

We recommend the following:

1. Routine inspections, at least annually, for fire and safety;
2. Training of personnel in the use of fire extinguishers;
3. Cabinets and/or shelves be installed in the kitchen and record areas for space utilization;
4. Excess machine and equipment be evaluated as to usefulness. Storage of unused machines (copy machine specifically) are causing clutter in the hallways and offices. If they are not needed, they should be turned in to a central county pool for use by other agencies or disposed of through surplus sales.

CHANCERY CLERK'S OFFICE

The chancery clerk did personally appear and submit his oral report. The previous chancery clerk had initiated an investment program and Mr. Necaise has begun pooling general county money for interest drawing 30-day investments.

There is now $65,000 in the interest account which is currently drawing 16-16.5 percent interest and is planned to be used to purchase a computer system for improving county services. We feel that this is commendable and should be continued.

Mr. Necaise plans to institute the following changes:

1. Improve services by purchasing a computer;
2. Extend office space by building an addition to the side of the Courthouse.

We submit the following additional recommendations:

1. The county should review its overall data processing needs and coordinate operations on the computer;
2. Standardize county employee benefits.

We commend Mr. Necaise for having county records put on microfilm and having them stored in the State Archive's vault in Jackson at no cost to the county.

YOUTH COURT

The grand jury visited the Hancock County Youth Court and found it to be in very good physical condition.

We recommend that the school board be relocated to a site other than the Youth Court Building to help relieve congestion and crowded conditions.

The grand jury discussed leases on 16th Section Land with Terry Randolph.

Randolph is to be commended for re-negotiation of leases for these lands which are estimated to add approximately $1 million to the school treasury over the life of these leases.

COUNTY FORESTS

The grand jury heard the report of Kenneth Burchfield, protection forester. Forests are highly valuable assets to the county. Our county forests are watched over by a group of 10 full-time persons including one full-time and two seasonal towers and three fire supervision crews.

Over a five year period there have been 367 fires burning 5,944 acres.

We recommend and urge citizens support and participation in reporting and controlling the forest fire problems. We also urge officials to inform the public that burning permits are required for open burning.

EXPUNGEMENT PROGRAM FOR FIRST OFFENDERS

We were advised of a program being advanced by our district attorney's office by which some first-time, non-violent offenders can have their felony conviction records cleared (expunged).

This program in existence in some states, and other Mississippi counties, helps prevent some young people from having a permanent, lifetime record for one slip into crime and attempts to divert them from the criminal justice system. The program includes probationary periods, restitution of valuables and other requirements.

The grand jury agrees that this seems to be a worthwhile, compassionate program. We hereby request that our legislators give consideration to adoption by state legislation of a program for property offenders similar to provisions presently existing for drug offenders, but for no other violations.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE, JAIL

We inspected the sheriff's office and the jail facility. We noted, as have many previous grand juries, that they are old, too small, unsafe, unsanitary, deteriorated, and that little can be done without extensive, major repair, renovation and expansion.

Rather than repeat lengthy lists of problems, we re-submit several items which stand out as specific problems:

1. There is no emergency exit from the upstairs cell areas;
2. Lack of adequate living, office and storage space;
3. Lack of adequate kitchen and exercise yard;
4. Lack of interior restrooms and toilet facilities;
5. Lack of adequate police vehicle and other parking space.

We commend the sheriff and his staff for their good job performance under very difficult conditions.

We discussed the problems with the sheriff and others. They agree with the grand jury and have recognized for some time that a new jail is required and must be a very high priority need. They believe that a new facility is the most economical solution to the problem.

We understand that there are presently no state or federal funds available for a new facility.

The sheriff and the supervisors are participating in the National Institute of Corrections program to secure assistance in planning and establishing a new county jail and they are also participating in a study to define and recommend a new jail location.

It is the opinion of this grand jury that this is a critical situation. If there is no known alternative to a bond issue to secure a new jail, we make our strongest recommendation that the county board of supervisors present a bond issue to a responsible voting citizenry for approval before the adverse conditions result in loss of life, property, or law suit for non-compliance of federal laws.

TAX ASSESSOR—COLLECTOR

We talked to Edward Murtagh, the Hancock County tax assessor and collector, regarding his responsibilities and, in particular, the current property reappraisal. He instituted a system which will allow payment of property taxes by mail, as automobile tags are now secured. Such a system eliminates much inconvenience, travel and expense, and is now available.

The county board of supervisors and the tax assessor have instituted the 'in house' method of reappraisal, using mostly county personnel to accomplish the task. They estimate that the 'in house' method will save approximately $500,000, compared to other proposals, with the added advantage of providing trained personnel for future program maintenance.

The legislature has provided taxpayer safeguards which limit the amount of county tax revenue increases through the appraisal. Taxpayers will have the opportunity to review the reappraisal prior to finalization of the program results.

THE GRAND JURY WOULD LIKE TO THANK MURTAGH FOR HIS INFORMATION REPORT.

GULFVIEW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

This grand jury reviewed the report from the previous grand jury concerning events happening after a tornado struck the school on 19 May 1980. We have also reviewed the events of restoration of that school facility and agree with the previous grand jury that there was a general, unconcern and disregard for reasonably good business practices and protection of the taxpayers money.

In many cases, bills were approved and paid without itemization or detail to determine what work was performed. Some bills were approved and paid with nothing more than date and amount.

We consider the school board and superintendent's actions to be totally without concern for the safeguarding of the county's assets, grossly negligent, totally unprofessional, and with a complete disregard for the responsibilities entrusted to these offices.

We note that some criminal indictments have been returned and do not wish to prejudice any of these cases before the court.

We adopt the following recommendations made by the previous grand jury and strongly urge pursuit of these recommendations. We especially urge that investigation of this case be continued and any additional evidence be presented to this or future grand juries for further indictments.

1. The district attorney should file civil actions against all school board members and the superintendent of schools to obtain recovery for the county funds wasted through their grossly negligent and/or criminal activity;

2. The investigation of this case should continue by the sheriff's department, the state auditor's office and other available investigative agencies, and any new evidence discovered which might possibly warrant criminal indictments should be presented to future grand juries.

3. The state legislature should pass laws making it criminally illegal for publicly elected officials or state, county or municipal employees to accept gifts and particularly gifts of salvage, from those holding state, county, municipal or other public contracts;

4. The security provided at emergency damage sites should be the responsibility of the policing organizations with jurisdiction in the location of the emergency;

5. Some secure area of facility owned and operated by the county authority should be established and used to store and protect school property;

6. All public organizations (the state, cities, counties, school districts, etc.) which own real property in this state should develop a set of emergency procedures designed to safeguard the assets as best possible and designate a panel of at least three persons to supervise the carrying out of these procedures;

7. A law should be enacted requiring all contracts written to retain title to salvage with the original owner as opposed to giving title to salvage to the contractor.

OTHER

We are informed that state law restricts payment of jurors travel pay to one day, round trip, for any one jury term.

We recommend to our legislature that a more reasonable travel allowance schedule, such as provided for state employees and other government personnel be established.

The grand jurors wish to express their appreciation for the opportunity to serve the citizens of Hancock County.

We have completed our duties and request that we be recessed this 30 day of Jan., 1981.

Respectfully submitted,
William K. McGee
Grand Jury Foreman

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY CROP REPORT

LIVESTOCK

The volume of feeder cattle moving through Mississippi auctions was very light, demand was light and prices moved lower.

Feb. cattle in the Plains States were lower in sympathy of the sharply declining dressed beef trade. A light general rain the first part of the week appreciably aided winter pastures and small grains.

Ground moisture continues very short, due to sub normal rainfall the past couple months, and many farm ponds still have not regained the losses suffered during the hot dry summer. Short hay supplies are diminishing rapidly.

At Mississippi livestock auctions for the week ended Jan. 22, cattle receipts 6,900, down 1,600 from the previous week and 800 less than a year ago.

Slaughter cows unevenly steady, with Utility one-three 40-46.75, Cutter one-two 35-42. Feeder Steers were one-four lower.

Heifers one-three lower. Medium and Large Frame No. One 200-300 pound steers 85-90, a few to 94, 300-400 pounds 74-80, a few to 88, 400-500 pounds 69-74, a few to 75.50. 500-600 pounds 64-72, 600-700 pounds 61-67. ## Mrs. M.D. Haas named to chair Library Week

Mrs. Michael D. Haas of Bay St. Louis has been chosen to head Hancock County's celebration of National Library Week, April 5-11, according to Elise Winter, first lady of Mississippi and state chairman of Mississippi's 1981 observance of National Library Week.

The theme for this year's program is "America, the library has your number."

"I urge everyone in the community to take advantage of the special events planned for this week long celebration which includes something for everyone," said Mrs. Haas, a long-time supporter of the library.

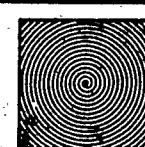

"The younger set will have a special program presented by Becky Mitchum, Children's Librarian."

Students in fifth through twelfth grades will get involved in a trivia contest using reference books available at the library," she continued. "And of interest to everyone will be a program sponsored by the Friends of the Library on Mississippi Folklore. And there's more, so mark your calendar and make plans to join in the festive celebration. The library has your number and needs your support."

PHARMACY MEETINGS

Pharmacists from throughout the South have been invited to the third annual Pharmacy Weekend Feb. 21-22 at The University of Mississippi. The weekend event—sponsored by the School of Pharmacy and the Pharmacy Alumni Chapter of the Ole Miss Alumni Association—will precede the Feb. 22 annual mid-winter meeting of the Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association.

Higher field prices
have made more gas available while helping conservation

More natural gas is available now, due in large measure to increased field prices which have given producers the needed incentive to explore for and produce this precious fuel. It's textbook economics.

A revision by Congress of the laws covering natural gas allowed interstate pipelines like the United Gas system to acquire gas that would normally not have been available. This fortunate development, combined with our gas acquisition program, has enabled this company to add reserves in excess of withdrawals for two consecutive years.

While these beneficial conditions may be only temporary, we continue working very hard to make them permanent.

That's the way we do things at United Gas—where the search for new energy never stops.

Our No-FRILLS plain label products are "everyday" rather than "Sunday" quality. That's the whole point. Who cares if a bean is broken or a peach isn't perfect? But they do offer good value. Each No-FRILLS product carries the Valu-Time® Seal of Approval, your assurance that every item meets our strict specifications.

And with No-FRILLS products, like everything we sell, our policy is satisfaction or your money back.

No-FRILLS. With a guarantee like this, you can't lose.
